

The Cast:

Lee Everett from the Walking Dead (2012)	Zagreus from Hades (2018)	Connor from Detroit: Become Human (2018)
As he takes on the role of Clementine's protector against a zombie apocalypse, Lee has to be courageous enough to risk his life to survive, yet careful as to not endanger Clementine's	Clever and witty, life and death isn't really a concern for him. And while there are definitely things he cares about, Zagreus is prone to acting carefree in most situations	Although he undergoes a transformation during the game, Connor is an uptight, by-the-books, and straightforward individual who, as an android, has trouble processing emotions

INT. MALFUNCTIONING ELEVATOR - DAY

LEE EVERETT (37, former convict and zombie apocalypse survivor, courageous but careful) after looking upwards at faulty wires, gives concerned glance to...

ZAGREUS (Age N/A, prince of the underworld, witty and charming). Notices glance a tad late, returning a smile and a shrug.

Both of them look down at...

CONNOR (Age N/A, android detective, smart and capable, but lacking in the emotional department), who is bent down and meddling with an open control panel.

LEE EVERETT

Hey uh we sure this is safe?

ZAGREUS

Sorry mate, not my area of expertise. I say let the electronic man handle the electronics.

CONNOR

The electronic man has a name

Although Connor's expression remains neutral, a small circular LED on his right temple turns from BLUE to YELLOW as he stands up to meet their gaze

CONNOR (CONT.)

It's Connor, and he's hard at work trying to get the three of us out of this mess.

ZAGREUS

(smiling) Of course, no need to get upset. The hero is trying to save the day so I simply gave him a name befitting one. Has a ring to it, eh?

The LED starts to blink red

Lee tries to get in between them

LEE EVERETT

I'm sure he didn't mean any offense... He was probably just trying to make light of the situation. I'm sure you're eager to get outta here too. It's just that... from our perspective... it all looks-

CONNOR
(cuts in) like I don't know what I'm doing?

Suddenly, sounds of iron CREAKING and BENDING and all the lights in the elevator blinks a couple times as sparks fly out from exposed wires...

... then back to silence.

LEE EVERETT
I was going to say volatile.

Still expressionless, Connor maintains eye contact for a bit...

Then sits back down to attend to the control panel.

LEE EVERETT (CONT.)
Look, maybe you could give us a run-down of what you're doing or some instructions on how we can help.

ZAGREUS
It's true, my father always told me that proper delegation of tasks
is what separates true leaders
from tyrants.

Connor pauses, considering. Then turns.

CONNOR
That was eloquently put. Perhaps my analysis of the situation was improper. Give me a moment as I determine the best division of tasks.

Connor's LED turns back to blue as his eyes whirr to life, blinking and computing different possible combinations.

LEE EVERETT
Your father sounds like a very wise man... I hope I can be like him one day. I have a little girl, ya see

ZAGREUS

Ah, so sweet. You wouldn't like my old man though. His heart's in the right place, just being lord of the underworld all his life has left him with very little sense of humor.

LEE EVERETT

He, what?

CONNOR

Calculations complete. Lee, please locate any and all exposed wires and identify how many different colored variations there are.

Zagreus, please assist me with the manipulation of the control panel to repair communications.

ZAGREUS

You've got it, Con-Man

The LED flickers red once more

LEE EVERETT

Lord of, huh?

CONNOR

Lee. The wires.

Giving Zagreus a weird look, Lee starts to look for the wires.

FADE OUT:

INT. MALFUNCTIONING ELEVATOR - 10 MINUTES LATER

Lee, Zagreus, and Connor, all huddled up next to the speaker as Connor makes the last repairs...

The speaker COMES TO LIFE and a man's voice can be heard from the other side

LEE EVERETT

Can you hear us?! We were on this elevator before the earthquake and now we're stuck! Please help us!

MAN (VO)

Hello? (static) Yes, we can hear you. We will send for the specialists and will be able to rescue you shortly

A sigh of relief is shared between the men and android.

ZAGREUS

I've gotta say, it was a pleasure.

CONNOR

While I don't agree with this sentiment, it is true that if we hadn't worked together, the consequences would have been dire.

LEE EVERETT

You can say that again hahaha.
Say, what did you end up doing with all the wires I counted?

Connor considers for a moment, like a parent when asked whether or not santa is real

CONNOR

As you were the most nervous and stressed out about our predicament, the task was designed to help you relax by keeping you distracted and focused on menial labor.

Zagreus bursts out laughing

LEE EVERETT

Wait... so it was pointless?

CONNOR

Not pointless. It kept you from asking things like "is this safe" every five minutes.

ZAGREUS

(still laughing) He's got you there, mate

END